

News Release
For Immediate Release

InfraScience Opens new office in Charlotte, North Carolina

InfraScience opened a new office in Charlotte, North Carolina during the fall of 2009 to better serve our Carolinas customers. Our new Practice Manager for the Charlotte office, Bill Belongea, comes to InfraScience from Microsoft Consulting Services where he was an Engagement Manager delivering consulting services to the customer base. Prior to that, he was a Practice Director for HP responsible for application development consulting services in the Southeast. He moved to Charlotte 10 years ago from Atlanta to open and manage the Charlotte office for Extreme Logic.

InfraScience is dedicated to providing top quality consulting services to clients throughout the Southeast. This office opening gives us a local presence in the Carolinas and strengthens our ability to work with Microsoft solutions in that geography.